It is not alone to perpetuate the remembrance of the faithful service of an officer in War and his devotion to country in time of need, but also, by an enduring memorial, through its teaching power, to induce patriotic thought and stimulate loyalty.

There can be no more loving tribute to a Companion of the Order than the tablet of this Commandery.

There can be no more enduring monument, perpetuating the memory of faithful service, than such memorial placed in Church, School or Public Building.

There can be no stronger appeal for future devotion than such recognition of past service.

Although the Commandery has not provided a Special Fund, yet under its auspices Companions-in-arms, kindred and friends have placed many such tablets to perpetuate the record of faithful service. Placed thus in the name of the Order, any Companion may appropriately and without thought of self-glorification, provide, through gift of appropriate amount, or bequest in will a fund for maintenance of the Library, accompanied by request for such a memorial.

The design of the tablet is a simple border of laurel, displaying the Seal and the Insignia of the Order, and with uniform commemorative wording.

It is cast in bronze by the Woodland Bronze Works, Department of the Albert Russell & Sons Co., Newburyport, (the founders of some
